The CUHK School of Biomedical Sciences (SBS) is launching a Biomedical Research Academy in summer 2015 for secondary school students who have genuine interest in biomedical sciences. In this 6-week programme, students will work with their Research Mentors on specific research projects inside the CUHK campus – the Lo Kwee-Seong Integrated Biomedical Sciences Building, interact with the other undergraduate students (e.g. medicine, biomedical engineering students) and postgraduate students who are doing research studies in our School.

This programme is highly competitive. Applicants will be invited for a selection interview.

*The exact duration is subjected to the agreement between the Research Mentor and the student.
